

Claims Consulting and Risk Control

SERVICE INTEGRATION

AssuredPartners Works With Your Team to Enhance a Culture Where Safety is a Top Priority

You might think one team helps you forecast what could go wrong in order to prevent it, while the other team sweeps in and picks up the pieces when prevention doesn't work. But imagine if they worked together. Our teams are focused on our clients, simultaneously building plans to avoid loss and open communication channels for immediate response and control. We partner with your team to enhance a culture where safety is a top priority and transparency allows us to learn something from every event, then use it to improve your future.

We employ a team of highly experienced professionals to assist your business in managing the claims process to include advocacy, claim support, and loss prevention advice in tandem with your insurance company.

With nearly a century in the business, our claims consulting and loss control professionals have fine-tuned their ability to collaboratively build a risk management program unique to the challenges you face in your business. Together, we work to prevent losses, manage what cannot be prevented, and learn from every claim. Our detailed service plans are aimed at the specific loss exposures of your business, help implement the services, and measure results.

Risk Control Solutions

Our risk control department is staffed by professionals with the varied experience needed to provide a full spectrum of risk control services - all designed to prevent losses and promote a positive safety culture. A typical risk control program will include components of direct loss prevention, training, and education and may be provided by our staff or in combination with the insurance company providing coverage for your business.
